Located on the beachside west of Marbella, only few kilometers away from the centre of Marbella, close to glamorous Puerto Banus and a lovely town of San Pedro de Alcántara, Guadalmina was originally a residential zone associated with Spanish and European aristocracy. It has become established as a peaceful and luxurious suburb dominated by large villas bordering the fairways of the Real Club de Golf Guadalmina which has got two 18-hole golf courses and a smaller 9-hole course. They include some of the most prestigious tournaments in Europe. For non-golfers, sports centers offer tennis and paddle tennis. Guadalmina Baja is one of the most attractive areas and truly one of the jewels of the Costa del Sol. Here you will find the best sandy beaches of the Costa del Sol rewarded with the European Blue Flag. It is very close to different shops and different restaurants of international cuisine. This is one of the quieter residential districts of Marbella and a far cry from the glitz and glamour at nearby Puerto Banús and more discreet than Nueva Andalucía on the other side of San Pedro de Alcántara. Guadalmina Baja is the perfect location for those who want the quality of life offered by Marbella but in inconspicuous and undisturbed surroundings.
